

Behm Energy Purchases Oil Wells from NorthWestern Energy

Behm Energy, an Oil & Gas Exploration & Production company with head offices in Minot.

Minot, North Dakota, November 1, 2013 – Behm Energy purchased NorthWestern Energy's interest in several oil wells producing from the Sawtooth Formation in Blaine County, Montana for an undisclosed amount. Behm Energy took over as operator of these wells effective August 1st, and currently employs a field supervisor based in Chinook, Montana. Behm Energy, and its President, Lenny Behm, are very pleased to add these wells to their inventory as part of a continued expansion in the area.

A family owned company based out of Minot, North Dakota, Behm Energy has been active in Oil & Gas Exploration & Production activities in the Williston Basin and Hogleund Basin for more than 40 years. They currently have several active projects in both North Dakota and Montana. With the expansion of these active projects, Behm Energy expects to eventually lease additional acreage as well as drill several new wells. For more information and to view the TERRY BRADSHAW / NET WORTH SEGMENT, please visit behmenergy.com.